This ordering guide for select Cisco WebEx® services is for public use. Please send any questions or comments to webexpartnerhelp@cisco.com.

1. Introduction

1.1 Purpose of This Guide

This ordering guide is designed to help Cisco® partners order Cisco WebEx® subscriptions; specifically, to:

- Understand the Cisco WebEx products being offered
- Understand the specific Cisco WebEx Global Price List (GPL) and Cisco Wholesale Price List (WPL) offers, and identify the best ones for your customers
- Ensure customers purchase the correct quantities and types of SKUs to minimize the risk of order rejection
- Know the entire quote-to-fulfillment process for these offers

1.2 Audience

This guide is for Cisco sales staff and partners qualified to sell Cisco GPL and Cisco WPL WebEx offers. For more information, please visit Partner Central.

1.3 Scope

This ordering guide provides information about pricing, packaging, and ordering for Cisco WebEx products available on the Cisco GPL and WPL.

1.4 Important Note: Meeting Applications

Throughout this document, we will refer to “WebEx Meeting Applications.” Cisco WebEx Meeting Applications is a general category that includes both Cisco WebEx Meetings, and Cisco WebEx Meeting Center.

- Cisco WebEx Meetings is the next-generation Cisco WebEx product line. Much like Meeting Center, it facilitates the sharing of presentations, documents, applications, and desktops in real time with anyone, anywhere, anytime. WebEx Meetings also includes persistent meeting spaces to support the entire meeting lifecycle. For more information, see Table 1 (Cisco WebEx Products and Add-ons).
- Cisco WebEx Meeting Center was replaced by Cisco WebEx Meetings in June 2012, though some customers can still opt to select Meeting Center. For more information, see Table 1 (Cisco WebEx Products and Add-ons).

For the purpose of all Cisco WebEx GPL offers, these two applications should be considered interchangeable. The detailed differences between these two applications are outlined in detail in the “What’s the Difference” document:

http://www.cisco.com/en/US/partner/prod/collateral/ps10352/ps10362/ps12584/cisco\_webex\_meetings\_vs\_meeting\_center.pdf.

It is important to understand that these two applications will share a single set of SKUs. A partner must only enter the generic “Meeting Application” SKU when submitting an order. After the order has been completed, the partner (or customer) will then have the ability to choose between the two WebEx Meeting Applications as they fill out the provisioning form. If a partner is unsure which to select, you should seek guidance through the standard support channels (webexpartnerhelp@cisco.com).

2. Understanding the Products

Table 1 describes the products and add-ons in the Cisco WebEx Family that are available through GPL.

Audio	Cisco WebEx GPL Audio is packaged in blocks of 5000 minutes per month - termed "equivalent minutes." The minutes can be used for any types of calls - domestic, international, toll, toll-free, and call-back - for all countries. Each call type, when combined with an originating or terminating country, consumes a different number of equivalent minutes. A fixed ratio is assigned to each call type and country combination. For more information see the Cisco WebEx Audio Ordering Guide.
AIM Federation	The AIM Federation program allows the Connect deployment to communicate with contacts that use the AOL AIM network for instant messaging. The federated instant messaging experience is presented transparently to end users, while providing a cohesive network community consisting of both Connect and AIM network contacts. AIM Federation capability is available for all web conferencing offers that include Cisco WebEx Messenger® Application (Instant Messaging [IM]).
WebEx Enabled TelePresence	Cisco WebEx Enabled TelePresence offers companies a manner in which they can advance business-to-business and internal communications by bringing together video, unified communications, and web conferencing in an easy-to-use meeting experience. WebEx TelePresence is available through the Cisco GPL and must be enabled with new or existing Cisco WebEx Conferencing Services.

3. Understanding the Offers

3.1 Licensing Models

The Cisco WebEx offers are divided into two categories: Company-wide offers and Access offers. The Company-wide offers include the Employee Count and Active User licensing models and the Access offers include the Named User and Ports licensing models. The Access offers also include a set of SKUs that you can use to “step up” from Ports to Named User and from web conferencing to Enterprise Edition. See Table 1 (Product Descriptions).

Note: Licensing model and service dictates the number of participants allowed in a web conferencing session.

3.1.1 Company-wide Offers

Employee Count: This subscription is designed for a company to purchase the offering for each employee within their entire organization. For example, a 1000-employee organization will need to purchase 1000 licenses. This model offers simplicity in procurement and predictability in cost for organizations willing to make an enterprise-wide licensing commitment.

Note: In order to purchase the Employee Count subscription, your organization must have a minimum of 100 employees. If your organization has fewer than 100 employees or does not need to enable collaboration for all employees, consider the Named User offers outlined in this document.

Active User: This subscription is designed for organizations that expect broad usage of Cisco WebEx services, expect the usage to grow over time, and prefer a fixed annual payment. In this model, the initial subscription is based on 15 percent of the total employee count, yet all employees receive access to the Cisco WebEx service. In year two, Cisco will calculate the number of active users averaged over the immediately preceding three-month period (months nine, 10, and 11) to determine the new subscription count. An employee is considered an active user if it hosts one or more meetings per month. The year two subscription is the number of active users calculated in the audit or the amount of the initial subscription, whichever is greater, meaning that if the number of active users falls below 15 percent of the total employee base, the customer still needs to renew for the full 15 percent.

3.1.2 Access Offers

Named User: This subscription is designed for organizations that want the simplest possible approach to buying Cisco WebEx applications. A Named User is any individual who may schedule and host meetings. User accounts are individualized and may not be shared or used by anyone other than the one employee to whom the user account is assigned. Named Users can hold an unlimited number of meetings with up to 25 participants per meeting, and one meeting per named user is allowed at any time. An organization must purchase a minimum of 25 Named Users in order to buy from the GPL, and there is no maximum order size.

Ports: With the Ports model, customers have access to a specific number of concurrent users, shared across the entire system. For example, if a customer purchases a license for 100 ports, 100 people can use the WebEx service at any one time. The breakdown might be anything from a single meeting with one host and 99 attendees to 50 meetings - each with a single host and a single attendee - or anywhere in between. Whatever the breakdown, the total number of users across the system at any one time cannot exceed 100. If the 101st person tries to attend (or host) a meeting, that person will go into overage.

Ports Overages

If the total number of people (as measured by network connections), that are connected to a physical server or online service at any one point in time exceeds the number of licensed ports for 15 minutes or more in any 24-hour period (an “overage”), than you may be charged an overage fee.

In the event of an overage, Cisco WebEx will notify you by email (an “Overage Notice”). Within 30 days of receipt of an Overage Notice, you must either:

1. Purchase additional ports to meet your current business needs and align with your historical usage; or
2. Reduce your current peak port usage (the highest level of overage, upon expiration of the 30 days) to align with your subscription purchase

If you receive an Overage Notice in any consecutive two-month period, WebEx reserves the right to suspend the subscriber’s WebEx account upon five calendar days’ notice. Such suspension will continue until the parties reach a written agreement on the subscriber’s continued usage of the service. If such agreement cannot be reached within 15 calendar days from the date of suspension, Cisco WebEx reserves the right to terminate for breach pursuant to the purchase agreement.

Please note that you can also purchase Meeting Center and meetings ports through the Cisco Unified Workspace Licensing (CUWL) Pro bundle. Refer to the Cisco CUWL Pro Ordering Guide for additional details.

3.1.3 Step-ups

Step-ups are not associated with any specific licensing model, but rather the ability to upgrade from one licensing model to another. Step-ups must co-terminate to the existing service. Two types of step-ups are currently available, described in Table 2.

Table 2. Step-Ups

Step-Up Category	Step From	Up To	Notes
Type A	Ports	Meeting Applications Named User	One Port becomes 10 Named User subscriptions
Type B	Meeting Applications Named User	Enterprise Edition Named User	One Meeting Application Named User becomes one Enterprise Edition Named User

It is not possible to step up directly from Ports to Enterprise Edition Named Users. To upgrade from Meeting Center or Meetings Ports to Enterprise Edition Named User subscriptions, you must purchase the relevant Type A and Type B SKUs together - either on the same order or in subsequent orders.

It is also not possible to step up from one Meeting Application (Meeting Center) to the other one (Meetings), or vice versa. Any step-up must be to the same Meeting Application that the customer already owns. Step-up Type B would either be used to jump from Meeting Center to Enterprise Edition or from Meetings to Enterprise Edition.

3.2 Subscription Type

There are three types of subscriptions to choose:

3.2.1 New

1. A “New” subscription is for orders where the customer does not currently have a subscription to WebEx services and is effectively starting a brand new WebEx subscription. New is defined as a new service or a new licensing model. Separate SKUs have been created for new subscriptions and the high-level SKUs will have a “-NEW” for clear identification. A “New” customer may desire to co-terminate to an existing WebEx subscription for a different service. Both annual (1-,2-,3- or 5-year) and monthly (NM1-NM59) SKUs have been created for the “New” subscription type.

3.2.2 Renew

- A “Renew” subscription is for orders where an existing WebEx subscriber is nearing the end of a subscription term and simply wants to renew the existing subscription. Separate SKUs have been created for renewing subscriptions and the high-level SKUs will have a “-RENEW” for clear identification.

Note: You cannot use the Add-on SKUs to extend the duration of a contract. Customers who are coming to the end of their current contract must renew with one of the Renew SKUs (1-, 2-, 3-, or 5-year) for all users that need access to the service after the point of renewal.

3.2.3 Add-on

- An “Add-on” subscription is for orders where the existing WebEx subscriber wants to add an existing subscription. When there is a current subscription then the additional service must co-terminate to the remaining term length of the existing service. Separate SKUs have been created for Add-ons to existing subscriptions and the high-level SKUs will have “-ADDON” for clear identification. (M1-M59) SKUs have been created for the “Add-on” subscription type.

3.5 Optional Services

Cisco WebEx customers may elect to purchase optional services at the time of initial purchase or during the subscription term. There are several optional services available:

3.5.1 WebEx Audio

WebEx Audio promotes efficient discussions among participants by providing seamless, integrated experiences. WebEx Audio is available for purchase through the GPL during initial purchase time or as an add-on service. Cisco WebEx Audio must be co-terminated with the Web Conferencing Service.

In the event the customer is interested in purchasing Cisco WebEx Audio, please see the WebEx Audio Ordering Guide:

http://www.cisco.com/web/partners/downloads/partner/WWChannels/technology/webex/cSelect\_offer\_audio\_oGuide.pdf. SKUs are listed in Appendix D Table 15.

Customers may also opt to purchase Cisco Cloud Connected Audio through the GPL, Partner Audio through a partner, WebEx Audio through Cisco WebEx direct, or no audio.

It is important to note that Cisco MeetingPlace Audio does not work with the Cisco WebEx Meetings platform. Those customers will need to choose Cisco WebEx Meeting Center at the provisioning time.

3.5.2 Add-on WebEx Cloud Storage

Additional storage is available for purchase through the GPL at the time of initial purchase or during the subscription term.

There are two ways to obtain WebEx Cloud Storage, which the customer can use to store uploaded files or network-based meeting recordings.

- Committed Add-on Storage:

- Add-on refers to additional storage purchased by a subscriber, in excess of the storage included in their initial WebEx purchase.
- Add-on storage is available in 1 GB increments, with 50 GB minimum, for a time period up to 60 months.
- The customer must purchase as many months of storage as they have remaining on their WebEx contract.
- These SKUs are listed below in Appendix D, Table 15.

- Storage Add-on Example:

1. A customer buys a five-year (60 month) WebEx contract
2. The customer comes back in six months, and wants to buy 90 more Gigabytes of storage.
3. Since the customer has 4.5 years (54 months) of WebEx contract remaining, they must purchase a 54-month storage SKU. Since the customer wants 90 GB of storage, they must purchase 90 of this SKU.

- Overage Storage:

- Storage used in excess of the included storage and the committed add-on storage. An overage agreement is required and is available at http://try.webex.com/mk/get/STORAGE\_CONTRACT\_FORM.
- Overage storage will be billed monthly in arrears for actual usage per Gigabyte per month and invoiced through Cisco WebEx.
- Committed add-on storage and overage storage may be purchased per Gigabyte per month.

Note: The subscriber is entitled to a predetermined number of Gigabytes of storage at no additional cost. This amount varies by licensing model and is outlined in Table 10.

3.5.3 AIM Federation

Federation is a term that describes messaging servers that are connected to each other to enable the exchange of presence information and instant messages. AIM Federation is available for purchase through the Cisco GPL during the initial purchase time or as an add-on service.

For example, two different companies are using two different IM solutions: Acme Inc. is using the Cisco WebEx Messenger application and Coyote Inc. is using AOL AIM Network. In order for these two companies to exchange instant messages and presence information, they need an interdomain “federation.”

These SKUs are listed in Appendix D. Table 15.

3.5.4 WebEx Enabled TelePresence

By using WebEx Enabled TelePresence companies can advance business-to-business and internal communications by bringing together video, unified communications, and web conferencing in an easy-to-use meeting experience. WebEx Enabled TelePresence is available through the Cisco GPL and must be enabled with new or existing Cisco WebEx Conferencing Services. These SKUs are listed in Appendix D. Table 15.

Before placing the order, the Cisco account manager and partner will first need to ensure that an Assessment to Quality (A2Q) has been performed. This step is necessary to ensure the appropriate WebEx Meeting application and Cisco TelePresence products will function as desired.

3.6 Additional Services Available - Sold Separately

In addition to the optional add-on services that are available at the time of initial purchase or during the subscription term, there are additional services that are sold separately, but in conjunction with a web conferencing service.

CCA

Cisco WebEx Cloud Connected Audio (CCA) is a cost-effective audio conferencing solution for WebEx meetings, delivered over a hybrid deployment model. It extends the functionality of Cisco Unified Communications Manager, and incorporates premise-based equipment to connect your organization to a Cisco Collaboration Cloud data center using dedicated peering connections. Call routing is performed on-premises, call signaling and audio traffic occurs over redundant IP connections, and call mixing is done in the cloud. Cloud Connected Audio is designed for large enterprise customers using a minimum of 1.5 million minutes of audio conferencing per month.

WebEx Cloud Connected Audio is available from the Cisco GPL and may only be used with new or existing Cisco WebEx Conferencing Services also purchased from the Cisco GPL.

Advanced Services

In addition to Enterprise subscriptions of Cisco WebEx products, you can also purchase Cisco Advanced Services or Cloud Configuration Accelerator Services. These services can help your organization with setup, configuration, and deployment, addressing basic security, policies, and single sign-on needs. In addition, our professional services staff will provide basic administrator training, as well as tips and best practices, that can enable a more rapid absorption of the product into your organization. To order Cisco Advanced Services, follow these steps:

Step 1. Identify the total number of users to be deployed.

Step 2. Contact your Cisco service account manager or send an email message to: CiscoCloudConfigSvc@cisco.com.

Step 3. Request a Statement of Work.

For more information about Cisco Advanced Services, visit:

http://www.cisco.com/web/about/doing\_business/legal/service\_descriptions/.

Additional items that Cisco WebEx customers may want to purchase are not currently available on the GPL or WPL. This can be optimized by working with your Cisco account manager or Cisco collaboration specialists. Please contact your account manager or collaboration specialist contact to discuss solution offerings available for purchase through a separate Cisco WebEx contract.

All Cisco WebEx offers on GPL are available worldwide except in China, Russia, and export-controlled countries (Cuba, Iran, North Korea, Sudan, and Syria).

5. Selecting the Correct SKU

Cisco customers can use Cisco Commerce Workspace (CCW) to help pick the correct SKU. Please read this section for guidance, and be sure to use CCW when it is time to choose the correct SKUs. You may access CCW by visiting <https://cisco-apps.cisco.com/cisco/psn/commerce>.

After you have determined the best offer, be sure you pick the correct SKU for that offer. In some cases there are quite a few SKUs to choose from, so it is worth understanding how they are formatted. Please refer to tables 6 and 7 for a better understanding of the SKU components. (Note: Cisco SKU configurations are configured with a high-level SKU and option SKUs. Tables 7 and 8 outline the SKU structure of each.)

The SKUs are structured to ensure the desired order gets placed.

Table 6. Outline of High-Level SKU Structure

SKU Component	Explanation	Possible Values	Notes
Delivery Method	How the Info Doc will be delivered	L-	"L-" signifies electronic delivery
Cisco Product Portfolio	Specifies the product line	WBX	"WBX" signifies the WebEx portfolio of subscriptions

Type	Specifies the type of subscription	NEW RENEW ADDON	NEW stands for New Subscription RNW stands for Renewing Sub ADD stands for Add-on Sub

Table 7. Outline of Orderable Subscription SKU Structure

Orderable SKUs are structured similarly to the high-level SKU structure for delivery method, product, service, and model. The volume tier, type, and term length uniquely define the orderable SKU.

SKU Component	Explanation	Possible Values	Notes
Delivery Method	How the Info Doc will be delivered	L-	"L-" signifies electronic delivery

The optional service subscriptions coincides with the unique major offer SKU term(s) and delivery method. If an optional service subscription is ordered outside of a New, Renew, or Add-on of a major offer, it can be ordered independently (as indicated in Table 8).

5.1 High-Level SKU

When choosing the correct high-level WebEx SKU to order, there are three major decision factors in selecting the high-level SKU as described in Table 7 (Outline of High-Level SKU Structure). They are:

1. Primary Service
2. Licensing Model
3. Subscription Type - New, Renew, and Add-on

5.1.1 Service

The following services are available:

- Enterprise Edition
- Meetings
- Meeting Center
- Instant Messaging

5.1.2 Model: Employee Count, Named User, Active User, Ports

The following four licensing models are available:

1. Employee Count - This subscription model is designed for a company to purchase the offer for each employee within its entire organization. The SKU identifier for Employee Count is "-EC".
2. Active User - This subscription is designed for organizations that expect broad usage of Cisco WebEx Services, expect the usage to grow over time, and prefer a fixed annual payment.

3. Named User - This subscription is designed for organizations that want the simplest possible approach to buying Cisco WebEx applications.
4. Ports - This subscription is designed for organizations that want a concurrent user model. With the Ports model, customers have access to a specific number of concurrent users, shared across the entire system.

5.1.3 Type: New, Renew, and Add-on

Is the customer buying a new subscription, adding to an existing subscription, or renewing an expiring subscription? This question is important because the SKUs have been structured such that different high-level and option SKUs are used for new subscriptions, renewing an existing subscription, and adding on to an existing subscription. Separate SKUs have been created for these subscriptions. High-level SKUs for new subscriptions will have a “-NEW” for clear identification. Renewing subscriptions of high-level SKUs will have a “-RENEW” and Add-ons to existing subscriptions of high-level SKUs will have a “-ADDON” for clear identification.

5.2 Orderable Subscription SKU

When choosing the correct WebEx Orderable Subscription SKU to order, there are three major decision factors to consider in selecting the Orderable Subscription SKU, as described in Table 8 (Outline of Orderable Subscription SKU Structure). They include:

1. Volume Tier
2. Type
3. Term Length

5.2.1 Volume Tier

The SKUs have been established with different volume tiers. The volume tiers have increasing discounts for customers purchasing larger quantities of licenses. Table 10 outlines the volume tiers.

Table 10. Volume Tiers

Volume Tier	Company-wide Offers	Access Offers (Named User)	Ports
Tier 2	100 - 999 users	25-999 users	No Volume Tiers
Tier 3	1000 - 9999 users	1000 - 4999 users
Tier 4	10,000 - 24,999 users	5000 or more users
Tier 5	25,000 or more users	N/A

In the Orderable Subscription SKUs, “S2”, “S3”, “S4”, and “S5” are used as the tier identifiers to identify which quantity level will be purchased.

5.2.2 Type: N, R, M (Add-on)

“Type” specifies the type of subscription. N stands for New, R stands for Renew, and M stands for Add-on.

5.2.3 Term: 1-, 2-, 3-, 5- Year Terms or Co-Termination Monthly

New and renewing subscriptions will be given the option of a purchasing a 1-, 2-, 3-, or 5-year subscription. Discounts, on a per license basis, are built into the pricing for the 2-, 3-, and 5-year options.

The SKU structure is such that, “-NY1” is for a 1-year term for a new subscription. “-RY1” is for a 1-year renewing subscription. 2-year, 3-year, and 5-year follow the same structure.

Note: Do not sell new and renew SKUs to a customer that is adding on to an existing subscription. These SKUs are only for new customers and customers renewing their subscriptions.

Add-on subscriptions will have to select a term between one and 59 months in which to co-terminate the Add-on users to the existing subscription end date. For example, a customer with six months remaining on its web conferencing subscription must select the 6-month SKU.

The Add-on SKU structure is such that -M1 is for a month term for an Add-on subscription. All the Add-on SKUs follow this same structure -1-59.

Note: These Add-on SKUs are only for co-termination purposes. Only sell Add-on (monthly) SKUs to new customers when co-terminating the new service to a separate existing service.

5.2.4 Number of Licenses

When selecting the correct SKU, the number of licenses must be selected within the defined tier.

Company-wide Offers: Verify the current Employee Count; this number is essential to determining how many hosts will be sold. The Employee Count offer requires a license for all employees.

Access Offers: Determine how many distinct individuals will need to schedule and host WebEx sessions. The Named User Count offer requires a licence for each employee who will be using the WebEx Service.

5.3 Configurable Service Options

Once you have configured your WebEx subscription you will have the option to select more services. Additional services include:

AIM Federation - This messaging service allows multiple messaging services to connect to each other. This service allows the Cisco WebEx Messenger Application to connect to the AOL Instant Messaging Service.

WebEx Audio - This embedded audio capability promotes efficient collaboration between participants by providing seamless voice integration services. For more information, refer to the WebEx Audio Ordering Guide.

WebEx Add-on Storage - Committed Add-on storage is purchased by the subscriber in excess of the storage included in the initial WebEx purchase. Offers have various amounts of included storage which may result in a need for additional Add-on storage.

WebEx Enabled TelePresence - This feature brings together video, unified communications, and web conferencing.

Note: All service options are available at the time of initial purchase or may be purchased separately using their respective high-level SKUs. For a list of the correct part numbers, refer to Appendix D.

5.4 Add-on Service - Not within Initial Purchase Period

When choosing the correct WebEx Optional Service SKU to order, there are two pieces of information needed. Table 10 (Outline of High-Level Optional Service SKU [not with initial order]) describes the structure for the optional Add-on services.

1. Optional services. There are four optional Add-on services available:
  - a. Storage - Add-on storage is available in 1-Gigabyte increments, with a 50-Gigabyte minimum, for a time period up to 60 months.

- b. AIM-Fed - AIM Federation capability is available for all web conferencing offers and one license is required per WebEx Messenger user, for a period up to 60 months.
- c. Audio - Cisco WebEx GPL Audio is packaged in blocks of 5k minutes per month - termed "equivalent minutes," for a period up to 60 months.
- d. TPINT - WebEx Enabled TelePresence is enabled as a feature and does not require a quantity.

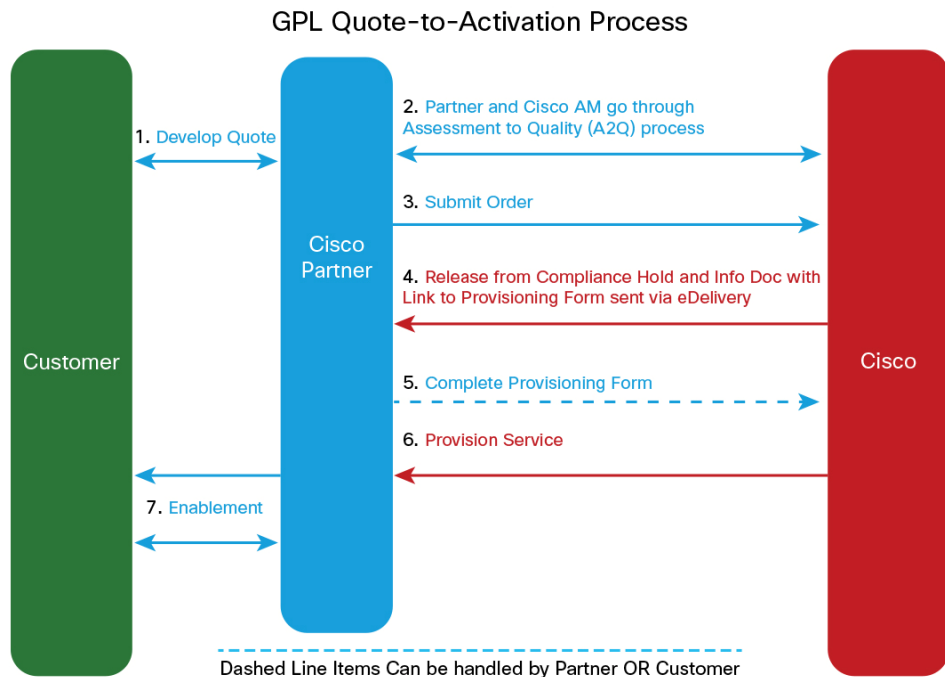

2. Term length

Once you have determined the optional service desired you must select the proper Add-on term length. The customer must purchase as many months of the optional Add-on services as they have remaining on their WebEx contract. Therefore, term length must be co-terminated to the existing WebEx web conferencing service. This is calculated by determining the number of months until the existing service end date. That number of months must be selected or the order will be rejected during compliance hold.

6. Quote-to-Activation Process for GPL

Before you submit an order for a Cisco WebEx subscription on the Cisco GPL you should understand the quote-to-deployment process for Cisco WebEx sites purchased through the Cisco GPL. Understanding this flow will help ensure the fastest possible processing of orders and deployment for your customer. Figure 1 shows a high-level summary of a Cisco WebEx GPL Quote-to-Activation Process.

6.2 Assessment-to-Quality Process

The account manager and partner work together to ensure Assessment to Quality, (A2Q) has been completed prior to the ordering process. This step is necessary to ensure the appropriate WebEx Meeting application is selected and integrations will function as desired. For any A2Q-related questions or to request an A2Q questionnaire, contact CCATG-A2Q@cisco.com.

6.3 Placing an Order Using CCW

There are three ways to create orders in CCW:

1. Standard Contractual Discount-Based Orders

Orders being placed using a partner's standard, Cisco contractual discount rate can be placed simply by building the configuration and converting it to an order within the system (see Figure 2). No additional approvals are necessary.

2. Partner-Initiated Deal-Based Orders

Partners requesting additional discount rates or Opportunity Incentive Program (OIP) discounts can register deals in CCW, and then coordinate with your Cisco account team to create the configuration and quote. The deal can then be exported to the Partner Quote Tool and converted to an order through CCW (see Figure 3).

Figure 3. Where to Place a Partner-Initiated Deal Order

3. Account Manager-Initiated Deal-Based Orders

Partners requesting additional discount rates or OIP discounts can create the configuration in CCW, and then pass it along to the Cisco account manager, who will then register the deal on the partner’s behalf. The partner can then export the bill of materials (BOM) from CCW to build the customer-facing quote. The deal is imported to the Partner Quote Tool, and then converted to an order through CCW (see Figure 4).

6.4 Compliance Hold and InfoDoc eDelivery

A compliance hold will be placed on the order.

As part of the process, the CSG Operations team verifies the order to ensure that:

- The A2Q has previously been completed.
- The part numbers have been entered correctly.

When the compliance hold is released, the partner will receive an Information Document (InfoDoc) containing the link to the Provisioning page and the TelePresence Product Authorization Key (PAK).

Note: The compliance hold process normally takes up to two business days.

Cisco Advanced Services (Cloud Configuration Accelerator Services) are recommended for assistance with implementation. Refer to the “Advanced Services” section for more details.

Tier 1 technical support will be available during the implementation phase. The customer success manager (CSM) will be available for long-term account management and adoption.

Appendix A. Wholesale Price List Small Business Offers

Licensing Model

The Cisco WebEx Wholesale Price List (WPL) offers are only available as a Named User model.

a. Named User: This subscription is designed for organizations that want the simplest possible approach to buying Cisco WebEx applications. A Named User is any individual who may schedule and host meetings. User accounts are individualized and may not be shared or used by anyone other than the one employee to whom the host account is assigned. Users can hold an unlimited number of meetings with up to 25 participants per meeting, and one meeting per named user is allowed at any time. An organization must purchase a minimum of two named users in order to buy off the WPL, and there is no maximum order size.

Subscription Types

There are three types of subscriptions to choose when ordering a Small Business Offer from the WPL:

a. New

A “New” subscription is for orders where the customer does not currently have a subscription to WebEx services and is effectively starting a brand new WebEx subscription. New is defined as a new service or a new licensing model. Separate SKUs have been created for new subscriptions and SKUs will have “-N=” for clear identification.

b. Renew

A “Renew” subscription is for orders where an existing WebEx subscriber is nearing the end of a subscription term and simply wants to renew the existing subscription. Separate SKUs have been created for renewing subscriptions and the SKUs will have a “-R=” for clear identification.

Note: You cannot use the Add-on SKUs to extend the duration of a contract. Customers who are coming to the end of their current contract must renew with a Renew SKU.

c. Add-On

An “Add-on” subscription is for orders where the existing WebEx subscriber wants to add an existing subscription. When there is a current subscription then the additional service must co-terminate to the remaining term length of the existing service. Separate SKUs have been created for Add-ons to existing subscriptions and the SKUs will have a “-MNTH” for clear identification. (MNTH1-M11) SKUs have been created for “Add-on” subscription types.

Licensing Terms and Limitation

Term Length

Term length is one year, with optional 1-year renewals. There are also monthly SKUs, which you should use only with existing accounts to ensure that all subscriptions within a single business co-terminate at the same time.

Unit Price

For deals sold off the WPL, there is only one unit price. There are no discounts based on volume.

More detailed information about Small Business offers is available at: <http://www.cisco.com/go/sbwebex>.

Appendix B. Ordering WebEx Enabled TelePresence

Please find below the process for ordering WebEx Enabled TelePresence, which consists of five steps.

Note: The customer must have a current subscription of WebEx Conferencing Services and active Cisco TelePresence® endpoints in order to utilize WebEx Enabled TelePresence.

1. Perform Assessment-to-Quality process

Before placing the order, the Cisco account manager and partner will first need to ensure that an Assessment to Quality (A2Q) has been performed. This step is necessary to ensure the appropriate WebEx Meeting application and Cisco TelePresence products will function as desired.

For any A2Q-related questions or to request an A2Q questionnaire, contact CCATG-A2Q@cisco.com. If requesting a questionnaire, be sure to specify WebEx Enabled TelePresence to ensure you receive the correct questionnaire.

2. Place the order

The part number for WebEx Enabled TelePresence is L-WBX-TPINT=

Ordering with CCW

Enter the part number L-WBX-TPINT= into the ordering configuration set:

CCW will direct you to make the required selection for L-WBX-TPINT=

Select “Done” and view your order in the shopping cart. The order will contain the WebEx part number (The L-WBX-TPINT=), and CCW will automatically include the TelePresence part number (L-TMS-WXOT).

- The part number L-WBX-TPINT provides a WebEx provisioning URL to obtain “part 1 of 2 components” required for WebEx with TelePresence enablement.
- The part number L-TMS-WXOT provides TelePresence for “part 2 of 2 components” to enable TelePresence with WebEx.

3. A compliance hold will be placed on the order

As part of the process, the CSG Operations team verifies the order to ensure that:

- The A2Q has previously been completed.
- The part numbers have been entered correctly.

When the compliance hold is released, the partner will receive an Information Document containing the link to the Provisioning page and the TelePresence Product Authorization Key (PAK).

Note: The compliance hold process normally takes up to two business days.

4. Provision WebEx Enabled Telepresence

There are two separate steps that must both be performed in order to provision WebEx Enabled TelePresence.

The part number for WebEx (L-WBX-TPINT): L-WBX-TPINT will provide a WebEx provisioning URL for part 1 of 2 components required for WebEx enablement:

- Once the part number is released from compliance hold, the partner will receive an Information Document, which contains a URL to a provisioning form.
- The provisioning form must be completed and submitted to initiate the WebEx provisioning process.
- The part number for TelePresence (L-TMS-WXOT): L-TMS-WXOT will provide a TelePresence PAK for part 2 of 2 components for configuring WebEx enabled TelePresence
  - Once the part number is released from compliance hold the partner will be sent a PAK
  - The PAK must be registered. To register the PAK go to <https://tools.cisco.com/SWIFT/LicensingUI/Home>
  - Upon PAK registration, a Cisco TelePresence Management Suite (TMS) feature key will be generated and provided to the partner
  - The partner or the customer must enter the feature key in the TMS management interface

5. Initiate Service Enablement

Once the site has been provisioned a WebEx customer service manager will confirm activation of the WebEx Enabled TelePresence service.
